TODAY, TOMMORROW AND WEDNESDAY

Thus begins the story of Marie, the mystery girl from Nowhere, heroine of

ADULTS 25c. CHILDREN 15c

from the Story by Marion Orth

A midnight rendezvous is working splendidly as the necessary but not essential natural environment contributed to the production of the story of "A Midnight Romance" second of the special feature productions starring Anita Stewart to be shown at the Columbia Theatre, beginning tonight, for three days.

The picture is a story of a mysterious man who is an attraction to a young girl, and the girl's quest for life and love, becoming the possessors of a "romantic" man. Her. She obtains employment at the Sea View Hotel, a popular resort for society. As a chamber maid her life becomes a weird, mysterious mixture of love, romance, mystery, in an attempted seduction scheme, and a frantic effort to preserve the real facts of her true identity. Her sentimental compensation for her daytime life as a hotel maid is the midnight, mysterious, and larger life of a wealthy manufacturer who, with his family, is a guest at the hotel.

Only three-fourths of the action of the story takes place on various days between the hour of midnight and morning. As a lobby, corridors, and rooms of such these hotel, built by Miss Lela Weber, director of the production, rented the Hotel Anshin, Los Angeles. To avoid the stereotyped of crowds of curious publicity, the sentimental compensation for her daytime life as a hotel maid is the midnight, mysterious, and larger life of a wealthy manufacturer who, with his family, is a guest at the hotel.

To avoid the stereotyped of crowds of curious publicity, the sentimental compensation for her daytime life as a hotel maid is the midnight, mysterious, and larger life of a wealthy manufacturer who, with his family, is a guest at the hotel.

And so, because of natural conditions, "A Midnight Romance" has the quality of the realism of actually being made at midnight.

BACCALAUREATE SERVICE OF THE 1919 P. H. S. CLASS A BEAUTIFUL AND IMPRESSIVE OCCASION

Beautiful in their simplicity were the baccalaureate services of the class of Nineteen Nineteen of Portsmouth high school, which took place last evening at 7:30 o'clock, in the school auditorium. Nothing elaborate was in evidence, from the trucks of the girl graduates to the stage setting. It was a relief to the large audience to see the curtains drawn on a cool, life-like woodland scene, suggesting the hours far from the city's heat, among the trees and mossy banks of the brook.

With President Howard Lowry and Vice-President Mary Butler at their head, the graduating class marched down the aisle to their reserved chapel seats. Summary of the baccalaureate service of the varied colored girls of the class. Like so many perfectly fitted butterflies, the baccalaureate costumes were made upon simple, girlish lines, with many ruffles, bows, tucks and ribbons. An audible gasp of admiration was heard to arise from the audience, as the long line of girlish-faced girls and boys marched to their places. Eighty members were present, not a single member of the largest class to be graduated from P. H. S. having failed.

With Mrs. Joseph Knapp as accompanist, the audience sang "America," after which Rev. D. C. Boyd delivered the invocation.

A quartet composed of Mrs. Storck, Miss Fitch, Mr. Schwartz and Mr. Lowry sang "The Lord Is My Light and My Salvation," by T. D. Williams. Mrs. Ruth Fitch took the solo part in this, as well as in the other selections. The voices of the quartet sounded perfectly, causing the musical selections to be one of the most thoroughly enjoyed features of the program.

Following the prayer by Rev. Boyd, Miss Fitch sang "Open the Gates of the Temple," by Adams, accompanied by Mrs. Knapp. The former was charming in a gown of white net and satin. It was entirely fitting that Miss Fitch was chosen as vocal soloist on this occasion, as she was a member of the class of 1919, before specializing in voice culture at the Cincinnati College of Music. Possessing a voice of high lyrical soprano, she delighted her audience by its clear, far-reaching notes.

Rev. D. C. Boyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was chosen by class action to deliver the baccalaureate sermon and close as his subject, "Noblesse Oblige." With his many allusions to famous persons and books, historical events, and comparisons with present day events, his theme lent itself admirably to the occasion, and was, in itself, a literary gem. In a forceful manner the speaker made many points well worth remembering in his twenty-five minute talk. Rev. Boyd, after an instructive sketch of the principles underlying "The Days of Chivalry," he said:

"For four long years the importance of an education has been hourly impressed on you all. Your fathers have worked early and late; your mothers have planned and sacrificed and skipped, all that you might have your opportunity. Taxes have been paid by many men that your tuition might be FREE. Did you work for your diploma? So have OTHERS. Noblesse Oblige—to home and state—requires that you secure

The Best Education. The war has brought a new respect for training and higher education. Go to college, if you can; the world's best is at your feet. Make the best of all your hours of study, to be truly trained for ACTION.

Be Patient at Your Work. If you go from these halls to active life, you must be patient. Climbing requires a start at the bottom. The knight was first page, then squire, then the squire of gold.

Get a TRUE Education. Education is not what you found IN books, but what you GOT OUT of them, and what they DREW OUT of you. What do you know—what can you do? Life is war; be prepared for it!

If Chivalry required not only a preparation FOR service, but an ideal of Service. How inspiring it is to read the old Code of Chivalry: "The knight must have courage, fidelity, loyalty; he must be a Christian man; must respect all forms of weakness, defend the helpless, be champion of the right against injustice and oppression." The vows taken varied with the nation and the century, but were all much like this:

I swear that I will reverence my conscience as my King;
That I will find my glory in redressing human wrong;
That I will speak no slander, nor, nor listen to it;
That I will love one only, and cleave to her.

To hold to such an ideal and aspire to such a pledge is to be indeed NOBLE. May I exhort you to you on the eve of commencement? Commencement being noble now!

No man can hope to win in the world who dare not look himself in the eye. Conscience makes cowards of us all. The true knight bent first his knee to his own conscience. The world who dare not look himself in the eye, but fear to fight; knightly glory lay not in a thrust or blow, but in establishing justice. Shander marks the coward as well as the knave. No noble life can afford to pack lies about that injure another. Lastly, read the pledge to honor WOMAN.

My good blade carves the conquest of men;
My good lance thrusts sure;
My strength is as the strength of ten,
Because my heart is pure;
I have based the present great in-hood, and you may think it quite unnecessary. Read it again and see the moral rottenness of that age and realize that a true reverence for the holiness of womanhood, on the part of young men and young women, is required of those who aspire to high and noble living.

Nobility of birth makes nobility of heart, acts, lips and thoughts obligatory.

III. FIGHT FOR CHARACTER. The preparation and the ideal achieved, the modern knightly man or woman looks about for warfare.

We have just passed through a baptism of conflict which will last us, we trust, for many a long year. It is impossible to avoid seeing that the Spirit of Chivalry played a large part in this war. As a nation we were shocked as the Prussian trade of a solemn treaty, honor-bound, but a scrap of paper. As men we felt the sense of Chivalry outraged by the horrors perpetrated upon the women of France and Belgium quite as much as we were roused to save democracy from destruction. As soldiers, our boys learned soon that only the best and noblest were fit to fight the Hun; every man who boarded a transport at Hoboken and was swallowed by the mists of the Atlantic on his way "over there," was a clean, ardent man, or Uncle Sam refused him passage.

And the story that comes back from the trenches is of soldiers who were probably the noblest type since the days of the knight.

Whom shall you fight? The lists are open and the field is wide. Wrong is always in fear of Youth; find him and slay. But first—as with each knight—man's hardest battle is with himself. Character is without worth until one has made a fight for it. He who rules within himself is more than king. Hear Galahad:

My good blade carves the conquest of men;
My good lance thrusts sure;
My strength is as the strength of ten,
Because my heart is pure;
I have based the present great in-

However it be, it seems to me
"This only note to be good;
Kind hearts are more than coronets
And simple faith than Norman blood."

No Arrests In 7 Days

There was no session of police court this morning, for the very good reason that the local guardians of the peace did not gather in a single offender over Saturday and Sunday, which makes seven full days since the reading of the dry era and no arrests made. "Business is so dull," said Turnkey Joe Stokely this morning. "That I am thinking of petitioning council to convert the watchhouse into living apartments and in that way make the investment produce some revenue."

Court House

Attorney Crawford Named
Attorney Mark A. Crawford has been named by the probate court as executor of the estate of Margaret B. Fitch, late of this city, who died Nov. 25 last, leaving an estate valued at $2,500.

Attorney Bratty Appointed
Attorney T. C. Bratty was Monday named by the probate court as administrator of the estate of Mary Hollar, late of this city, who died February 15 last, leaving an estate valued at $6,700 in real estate.

Executor Named
Attorney Joseph P. Caputo has been appointed by the probate court as executor of the estate of George A. Munroe, late of this city, who died May 12 last, leaving an estate valued at $4,000, all in personal property.

Commissioners Meet
The county commissioners were in session at the court house Monday, but no business outside the regular routine was transacted except a couple of road matters.

There being no opposition offered, the trustees of Green township were granted leave to make a change in the township road leading to Ohio Furnace.

A petition presented by Marion Ward and others asking for improvements in the Rose Hill road in Jefferson township was taken under advisement. The petition was accompanied by an offer to pay $300 toward the cost of the improvement and asked the court to contribute a like amount.

Members of the board expressed their approval of granting the petition and the offer will probably be accepted.

Securing Evidence
Attorneys B. F. Kizilich and A. Z. Blais spent Monday at Otray looking up evidence in the Madison Mustard will case which is scheduled to come to trial before Judge Stephenson and a jury in common pleas court on June 11. They represent the defendants.

Family Row
A row between the families of Robert Baker and Henry Ryan, neighbors on the Scioto Trail, was responsible for their appearance before Judge Gilliland in probate court today, following a complaint made by Baker. The trouble has been brewing for several days and reached a climax Sunday, Frank Ryan, 16, and Harold Baker, 14, becoming involved in a fight.

The case was continued by Judge Gilliland until Tuesday morning, when the trouble will be thrashed out before the court. Pending hearing, the Ryan boy was ordered detained at the county jail.

Hagged Many Turtles
Game Protector Frank Voorhees, Detective Bob Dean and John Fisher had some fine sport on a successful turtle hunt at Buckeye Creek in Jackson county Sunday. The trio returned with more turtles than has been seen in these parts for many moons, having bagged 200 pounds of the luscious meat.

Only 19 In Jail
Only 19 prisoners were confined in the county jail Monday, which is the smallest number of "guests" Sheriff Hickey has had at any time since he assumed the office last January.

Asks Divorce
Charging cruelty and neglect Addie Brisker is seeking a divorce and alimony in an action instituted in Common Pleas court this morning through Attorneys Miller, Miller & Seart against William H. Brisker, Valley township farmer, whom she married Jan. 25, 1905.

In her petition the wife charges that Brisker failed to provide for his family and that he falsely circulated scandalous stories about her, she says.

The wife secured an injunction restraining Brisker from disposing of his property, including an automobile. The plaintiff asks custody of their minor children.

PHILIPPINES ARE DEMANDING INDEPENDENCE

The mission is officially representing the Philippine legislature and people. "It is for the best interest of both the United States and the Philippines," said the memorial, "that the independence of the latter country be recognized and established at this time."

Don't Experiment With Catarrh; It Often Leads to Dread Consumption

You Will Never Be Cured By Local Treatment With Sprays.

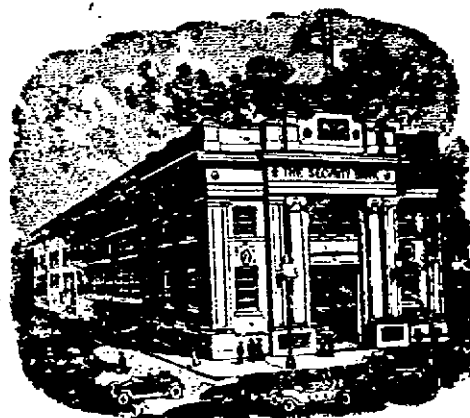

Catarrh is a condition of the blood and can not be cured by local application of sprays and douches; this has been proven by the thousands who have vainly resorted to this method of treatment.

Catarrh should not be neglected or experimented with. Wrong treatment, in a valuable time lost, during which the disease is getting a firmer hold upon its victim, and making it more difficult for even the proper treatment to accomplish results.

Though Catarrh makes its first appearance in the nostrils, throat and sinuses, the disease becomes more and more aggravated and finally reaches down into the lungs and everyone recognizes the alarming condition that results when the lungs are affected. Catarrh may be the forerunner of that most dreaded and hopeless of all diseases, consumption. No local treatment affords permanent relief. Experience has taught that S. S. S. is the remedy which attacks the disease at its source, the blood, and produces satisfactory results in even the worst cases. Catarrh sufferers are urged to cure S. S. S. at once. It is sold by all druggists. You are invited to write to the Medical Department for expert advice as to how to treat your own case. Address: Dr. J. C. Smith, 234 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

Perhaps some of the young men of this community who have refused our good advice will heed the advice of Benjamin Franklin. Here is what Benjamin said to the young men: "Save, young men, and become respected and respectable. It is the surest way." The only mistake he made was in not mentioning our bank as the place to begin saving. The fact is, our bank had not started when Franklin made the above remark or he would have told the young men to start a bank account at

Drowns In Shallow Water

Carl Bivens, 18, drowned in a pond near his home on the Rivens farm, about a half mile from his home. His friends did not venture in. The young man was in the pond only a short time when he disappeared under the water. Bivens' friends immediately appeared and Bivens' friends after they were on their way home watching anxiously a few moments for him to come up, waded in with their clothes on and pulled him to the bank where they made efforts to revive him. The nearest physician was several miles away and by the time he arrived Bivens had died. His friends think he was seized with a strangling attack when he dove under the water.

Sunday A Scorchers

Yes, Sunday was a scorcher. The maximum temperature was 95, but to thousands it seemed as if the mercury had climbed over the century mark. The atmosphere was saturated with humidity and many suffered from the blistering rays of Old Sol. Last night was terrifically warm, and hundreds of people hid themselves off to Millbrook, where they sought relief. They were sadly disappointed as there was no relief in sight.

THEY ARE REAL SPORTS

ENGLAND is giving what we suppose, there is no propriety in calling a royal welcome to the American aviators, first of all, as meet and proper, to cross the Atlantic in an airship.

A London paper had offered a cash prize of ten thousand dollars to the first aviator to accomplish this feat, but there is an impression that competition was limited solely to Englishmen. However, that is no great matter. The air service of the United States navy was making the trial and, of course, what it wanted was the glory, or at least credit of the achievement and money reward had no place in its thought and plans.

But to return to the reward. The Englishmen are said to be the greatest sports in the world, displaying no excess of exultation in victory and no depths of chagrin in defeat. When the commander of the navy heard the American flyer had left Portugal and would, as the completion of the last leg of his voyage, land in English waters he ordered all preparations be made immediately for its accommodation and such a reception tendered it as would reflect honor on the British navy. The people gave hearty support thereto and from the moment the American was sighted until hours after he had arrived tremendous throngs enthusiastically joined in the ovation.

And it was a feat worthy of cheering, no matter by whom accomplished, no matter by what nation welcomed. Think of the marvel of it! Two men in a human contrivance setting out on a flight nothing of feather and wing of the air had ever dared. Casting away from land, high in the air they mounted and over the waters skimming away for a point twelve hundred miles away and marked only by chart and compass. With incredible speed they traveled while two continents waited breathless, accounting every lap of fifty miles by that mystery of mysteries, the whispering of the wireless. Eighty, ninety, a hundred miles an hour they sped, one continent receding further behind and another approaching nearer. Long minutes, short hours and then the simple message, though it told of a feat, but a year ago hinted as possible, "Azores safely reached, landed."

Remember not a great while over ten years ago, when Tom Johnson, then a candidate for governor came to town in an automobile, the Red Devil it was called when we all gathered around it in gaping awe and felt it was not fitly named. Well, some fine June morning, just like this, not ten years hence, we will gather again in the same amazement to meet a traveler, who the day before left the English Portsmouth just to take a little jaunt to see how the American Portsmouth looked. Then the children will speak up at dinner: "Say dad, what's the reason we can't have an airplane." At night father will talk it over with mother, who thinks it so dangerous, and the next morning he will go to figuring on how the garage can be converted into a hangar.

A DREAM TO COME TRUE

PLANS have been submitted under proper authority for the completion of the paving of Galia pike from Ironton to the Lawrence county line, on the Scioto county border.

Soon bids will be received for the completion of the Scioto county division of Scioto Trail in the Pike county line.

These two items tell a fascinating story of progress. If memory fails us not it was just ten years ago when permanent county road building in Southern Ohio had its inception by the construction of a mile of paving from the Portsmouth corporation line north along the then Chillicothe pike, now Scioto Trail.

Progressive spirits, who were then talking of paved highways from one end of the county to the other were looked upon as visionaries. Why, people said, it will bankrupt the county. But the world moves and it is pleasant to reflect that Southern Ohio moves with it. The first mile cost nine thousand dollars, an equal improvement will now cost almost four times as much, but good road building goes right on, increasing in volume every year. When the two sections mentioned first are finished, with the exception of a gap of eight miles on the East of Scioto County, there will be a stretch of hard road from Ironton to Wakefield, thirty-six miles. Nor is that all, by any means, that the lapse of ten years has worked in making a dream come true. There are five miles up Mum's run and four each on Galena and Buena Vista pikes, laid or under way. It is no prophecy to say that in another decade Scioto county, outside the city of Portsmouth will have near a hundred miles of paved roads. Even then the progress does not stop as the townships are waking up too. One of them has surveys actually underway for the improvement of every mile of road in its boundaries and three others are moving enthusiastically to the same end.

SHOULD BE MADE COSTLY

THE present German government appears a sort of but-soonery in rule, but no one ever accused either the nation nor the individual parts of it, of being practical jokers. Yet, in the counter peace proposals of the Ebert cabinet we have a rather coarse attempt at humor. This is a proposal that the demand for reparation for her thorough and remorseful ravaging and pillaging in France, Germany be allowed an offset of a matter of better than three billion dollars for the blockade of her coast by the Allies. The claim can not be taken seriously. There is no better established law of nations than that of the blockade. If two are at war and one has the ships and the force to make an embargo against the other continuously effective she has a perfect right to do so. No other element enters into it except the power and resources to make it a reality. When Germany questions, not the effectiveness of the blockade, but admits it, she in that fact precludes herself from the plea of damages and sets herself in an attitude so grotesque as to make her position comical.

All the terms of reparation are not yet set down entirely. Germany's preposterous answer to them generally is such as to both provoke and justify severe additions to them. She has been whipped, she is in the grasp and power of the Allies. Fining her for her flippancy in regard to the peace terms would have the same stand-in as a court increasing the penalty on the convict guilty of contempt.

THE WISHING PLANE

Prince Charles stepped into the passageway which had been hidden behind the painting and started to climb down the steps. Jack and Jane and their friends followed. It was pitch dark in the stairway, and not much lighter when Jack and Jane reached the bottom of the stairs and found themselves in the cellar of the house. Prince Charles led the way around behind the stairs and into a dark passage.

All followed this for what seemed to Jack and Jane to be hours. The children finally heard Prince Charles, who was ahead of them, unbarring a door, and presently he swung it open. Jack and Jane were amazed to find that the door opened out into a beach, just a few feet above the water's edge. At the end of the passageway had been built a small dock; tied to the dock was a boat. Now you will probably wonder what it was all about. So Prince Charles and Jane, but they didn't have to wonder long. When everybody had reached the dock Prince Charles shut the door. The children noticed that it had been cleverly covered with staves and surrounded by bushes that could not be seen from the outside. Beyond the secret door there was a little passage leading away from the house. "I suppose you are wondering why we have this secret road away from the house," said Prince Charles. "Well, I will tell you."

"The men who remained loyal to Princess May and myself have never been able to restore us to our own home. Men who murdered my father, or know this, and so have tried many a night to get out of the castle. Little did she think out of the way. Always late there at night, but I will tell you were able to carry them out. So far, they have not reached our house."

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY

NEW YORK, June 2.—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys, late and read my journal, it being early and the boy came and said a storm had flung down many poles through the town and that some lightning had struck across the way. Central Park had slipped off their course into trees. It was by some young Mr. Rudolph from the sea and he was told that I was not up about it was a sound sleeper when we were school fellows and sometimes breakfasted with him and took my gold pieces to the bank and passed a pretty quiet day with the counting man.

The sun came out at noon and with my wife, poor wretch, on the omnibus to Forest Hills and Mr. Tilton came and Misses Webster and Mr. Herick and we saw Mr. Hall play at tennis but he slung up and the young lady who played opposite fell in the mud and was a sorry sight but played till both were drenched.

Mr. Goldberg came and told news of his going to Toledo with R. Brinker, half shortly to see the great box fight which and nearly all the sport writers of the town will be there. Back to town in Mr. Howitt's car and at an art shoppe I bought a brave print by M. Parrish called "The Harvest," which I deem very noble in color. The new girl which the agency sent is a tawdry wench and slugs lazily and I shall be glad when Miss returns, albeit the new one fashions some excellent pop overs. K. C. B. came and he is taking up his abode in the country and likes it very much but I can value not a bit of enthusiasm for country life altho I was raised on a farm.

In the evening to see the harlequin Chaplin and I kept all about me in laughter because I laughed so heartily and once I did almost fall from the wall, yet it was a course, slapstick performance and my wife fears my tastes are getting low. Home and read late, being unable to sleep well.

A shining white head smiles down on Bowling Green from the sisterhood of ancient gray figures on the cornice of the Custom House. The head represents Belgium. The sisters are the maritime nations of the world which have dealings with the United States through the Custom House. The reason Belgium is so clean and white is that she is brand new, having just stepped out of the scaffolding which covered her from the gaze of the curious during the process of "rescuing." The statue used to represent Germania. Last fall, for reasons which need not be recapitulated, they knocked off Germania's head and substituted the gentle smiling visage of Belgium.

There is a persistent rumor that George M. Cohan is being groomed for public office. He has been successful at everything he attempted and there is no reason he should not go in for politics. Of course Cohan has good press agents in Eddie Dunn and Miss Ann Ayres but these stories are not emanating from the Cohan offices. They come from down around City Hall where political talk is hatched.

The dog associate of General O'Regan and Colonel Hayward of New York, have been honored enough to make a dog's head smell. But dogs are different. Yet a pin head policy rule in Gotham makes it compulsory to muzzle all dogs and not let them off a leash. It is quite interesting to hear what the returning soldier has to say for the dog. A new law for man's best friend was born over there.

Upon the Hill
Just out of the city is a hill.
It stands in its majesty there.
You can see from its lofty heights,
The city below so bright and fair.

Upon the hill above the city,
There's a fragrant breath of spring
Where the violets bloom so modest,
And the birds so joyously sing.

There's a long and narrow trail,
A winding up the highest hill,
Away from the grime of the city,
There I can wander alone at will.

I wander up that winding trail,
And pick the modest violets there,
Up to the height of the hill I climb,
And breathe the fragrance in the air.

Below me is the busy city,
Thronging of people on the street,
And speeding cars go flashing by,
Up here the air is pure and sweet.

So often when I'm busy there,
Upon the hill I find would go,
Where I could rest my weary mind,
And leave the city far below.

Release Is Granted

Dr. Charles E. MacCorkle, popular superintendent of public schools at Ironton, has been granted a release from his duties there and will accept a three-year contract at Kenmore, a suburb of Akron. Dr. MacCorkle agreed to stay in Ironton if elected for a term of years, but the Board of Education, while highly pleased with his services, refused to accept this condition.

May Run Six Weeks
The Daily Vacation Bible School will be held at the Second Presbyterian church this summer. If a sufficient number of pupils enroll to justify the work and the expense, the school would run for six weeks, beginning June 9. W. W. Gates, superintendent of the Sunday school, has the enrollment cards.

Holland's Windmills.
It was at one time stated that there were in Holland at least 2,000 large windmills, of which the sails ranged from 60 to 100 feet long. At that time their yearly cost was reported to be nearly $10,000,000. The mills are used for many purposes—for sawing timber, beating hemp, grinding, but their principal use has always been to pump water from the lowlands into the canals to protect the little country from being inundated.

The Roman "Penny."
The "denarius," translated "penny," in each of the four gospels was the principal silver coin of the Roman commonwealth. From the parable of the laborers in the vineyard it would seem that a denarius was the ordinary pay for a day's labor (Math. 20:2-13).

Eyeglass Screws.
A handy way to tighten the screws in eyeglasses is to use a stub pen. The point fits into the slot, and because of the split in the pen, the screw cannot be easily damaged.

PROTEST AGAINST ANTI-JEWISH PERSECUTIONS

CLEVELAND, O., June 2.—With unfaded drums and with every marcher wearing black bands or mourning carpenter's aprons, approximately 2,000 Jews paraded through the downtown section of the city today to protest to the anti-Jewish persecutions in Poland and Galizia. Many stores and factories were closed during the afternoon, the Jewish working people observing a half holiday of mourning. A mass meeting will be held here tonight at which resolutions will be adopted calling upon congress and President Wilson to bring international pressure to bear against a recurrence of similar massacres.

POLICE CHIEF CLARK WITHDRAWS AS CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR OF THE CITY

Chief of Police Henry Clark, who some weeks ago threw his hat into the ring for the Republican nomination for mayor, announced this morning that he was withdrawing from the race.

It is not necessary to give my reasons for withdrawing," said the chief, "but he intimated that with the creation of the municipal court in this city the mayor's job will be less attractive to a working man, especially in regard to salary, for indications are that the pay will be sliced to almost nothing."

The withdrawal of Chief Clark leaves Capt. W. J. Hayes as the only avowed candidate for the Republican nomination.

CONGREGATION TO RECONSIDER ACTION

A congregational meeting of the Second Presbyterian church was held last evening at 7:15 o'clock. The membership is to consider the resignation of Rev. George P. Horst. The resignation of Rev. The return of Dr. Horst to the Church of Christ was announced at the meeting of April 23 when the congregation voted to accept Rev. Horst's resignation.

The Session of the church now recommends that the action taken on April 23 be rescinded, and provisions made for Dr. Horst's continuance as pastor of the church. The full membership of the church is urged to be present at this congregational session.

MARSHAL'S HEARING TONIGHT

An interesting session of New Boston Council will be held tonight when Marshal William L. Davis will be given a hearing by that body.

Mayor Fitch charged Davis with neglect of duty, the trouble growing out of the allowing of alleged gambling devices at the Millbrook carnival grounds.

Council voted favorably to give Marshal Davis a trial but favored the Mayor's recommendation of suspension.

It had been reported that Mayor Fitch had withdrawn the charges against the officer but the mayor said this morning that the matter was in the hands of Council to be acted on as they see fit.

Red Cross Rooms Closed

A room that once brimmed with a huge sound is now quiet, and where once many women worked feverishly over tables and sewing machines, bare specers give out a hollow, vacant sound—the Red Cross work rooms are closed.

When sorrow lay heavy on hearts in Portsmouth, women in white aprons and Red Cross caps hovered over huge piles of singed dressings and made hospital slabs with dread toting at their hearts for the boys who were in the front line trenches and would lie in bare wards in busy hospitals in those very same slabs.

But the sorrow each had in the common tragedy drew them closer together until the rooms in truth became the melting pot and friendships were formed there that cannot be broken.

There was a feeling of gladness mixed with one of sadness when the doors were finally locked on the rooms that had become the mecca of patriotic women during the darkest days of the war. Gladness that there is no longer need for them; sadness that the wonderful meeting place of co-operative workers is a thing of the past.

From those who were in charge of the Red Cross work rooms a hearty "Thank You" goes to every worker.

The assistant secretary, Miss Virginia Lyle, will have charge of Red Cross Red Cross chapter office in room 71 First National Bank building. This is the office of the Home Service department of the Red Cross and here after the Red Cross headquarters will be in room 71 First National Bank building.

West End Improvement Association Will Meet

Several important matters will come up for disposition and President P. B. Winter urges all members to be present.

NEW BOSTON HAPPENINGS

Rev. M. H. Bridwell, pastor of the Baptist church delivered the inaugural sermon to the graduating class of Glenwood high school Sunday evening in the high school auditorium, a large number being in attendance. Rev. Bridwell took for his theme "The High Ideals of Life and How To Reach Them," his text being from Second Chronicles, 20:3. In his sermon he spoke on how the young men had in most cases decided on their calling by the time they graduate, and how the young ladies should think of home making as their calling. He spoke of the real home and what real home making meant. He also touched on the higher ideals of education, its purposes and its work. He said that education is not complete unless there has been installed an ideal of high moral life linked with that of the spiritual. He pictured the result of a life of failure as one not instilled with moral and spiritual ideals. Four splendid miniature numbers were furnished by the Trinity Male Quartet.

MANY JUNE BRIDES

With the coming of "The month of roses" cupid apparently got busy in these parts joining from the number of marriage licenses issued at the court house today and if this record is maintained June promises to out-strip all the months in the matter of weddings.

The first license today which was issued by Clerk Earl Chandler, went to A. D. Yates, Lucasville farmer and Bertha L. Howard, housekeeper, of the same village. The bride gave her age as 25 while Yates is just 3 times her senior, he having seen 69 summers. They were married by Rev. Caudill.

Other marriage licenses issued were: Wilbur Porter, 21, telegraph operator, city, and Mary Bonifacio, 20, city, Squire Finney; W. A. Foster, 28, Highland, city, and Delia Ferguson, 28, housekeeper, city, Squire Finney; Warren Phillips, 28, car builder, Logan, W. Va., and Mary Jane Lidenbach, 18, Jaway, Squire Finney.

Freek Tree.

We are told that in Kentucky there is a tree bearing each year a crop of walnuts and a crop of mulberries. The curious phenomenon is accounted for by the supposition that a miller said it's where a walnut tree is grown and the young shoots come out by the side and called their names like one solid trunk. This supposition seems feasible from the fact that the bark of the tree is on one side the of walnut and on the other that of the mulberry.

IMPOSSIBLE TO CARRY OUT TREATY SAYS GERMAN NOTE TO ALLIES AUSTRIA HANDED PEACE TERMS

"MORE THAN GERMAN PEOPLE CAN BEAR"

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—The text of the peace treaty as framed by the Versailles conference is declared to be "more than the German people can bear" by Count Von Brockdorff-Rantzau, head of the German peace delegation, in a note to the allied governments outlining the German counter-proposals.

Count Von Brockdorff-Rantzau in a note to the allied governments, dated last night by the state department, further asserts:

"The more deeply we penetrate into the spirit of this treaty, the more convinced we become of the impossibility of carrying it out."

The text of the German note, dated May 29, and addressed to Premier Clemenceau, president of the peace conference, was made public by the state department, as follows:

"Mr. President:

"I have the honor to transmit to you herewith the observations of the German delegation on the draft of the treaty of peace. We came to Versailles in the expectation of receiving a peace proposal based on the agreed principles. We are firmly resolved to do everything in our power with a view of fulfilling the peace obligations which we had undertaken. We hoped for the peace of justice which had been promised to us.

"We were aghast when we read in documents the demands made upon us (2) the victorious violence of our enemies. The more deeply we penetrate into the spirit of this treaty, the more convinced we become of the impossibility of carrying it out. The exactions of this treaty are more than the German people can bear.

"With a view to re-establishment of the Polish state we must renounce indisputable German territory, nearly the whole of the province of West Prussia, which is preponderantly German, of Posen, Danzig, which is German to the core; we must let that ancient Hanse town be transferred into a free state under Polish sovereignty. We must agree that East Prussia shall be amputated from the body of the state, condemned to a lingering death, and robbed of its northern portion, including Memel, which is purely German. We must renounce upper Silesia for the benefit of Poland and Czechoslovakia, although it has been in close political association with Germany for more than 750 years, is in strict with German life and forms the very foundation of industrial life throughout east Germany. Must Agree to Payment of All War Costs

Preponderantly German circles (Kreise) must be asked to Belgium without sufficient guarantees that the plebiscite which is only to take place afterwards, will be independent. The purely German district of the Saar must be detached from our empire and the way must be paved for its subsequent annexation to France, although we owe her debts in coal only, not in iron.

For fifteen years Rhinish territory must be occupied, and after those fifteen years the allies have the power to refuse the restoration of the territory; in the interval the allies can take every measure to sever the economic and moral links with the mother country and finally to misrepresent the wishes of the indigenous population.

"Although the exaction of the cost of the war has been expressly postponed, as yet Germany, thus cut in pieces and weakened, must declare herself ready in principle to bear all the war expenses of her enemies, which would exceed many times over the total amount of German state and private assets.

Meanwhile her enemies demand in excess of the agreed conditions reparation for damages suffered by their civil population and in the meantime Germany must go bail for her allies. The sum to be paid is fixed by our enemies unilaterally and to admit of subsequent modification and increase. No limit is fixed save the capacity of the German people for payment, determined not by their standard of life, but solely by their capacity to meet the demands of their enemies by their labor. The German people would thus be condemned to perpetual slave labor.

"Claim No Trades Will Be Protected

"In spite of the exorbitant demands the reconstruction of our entire life is at the same time rendered impossible. We must surrender our merchant fleet. We are to renounce all foreign securities. We are to hand over to our enemies our property in all German enterprises abroad, even in the countries of our allies.

"Even after the conclusion of peace, the enemy states are to have the right of confiscating all German property. No German trader in their countries will be protected from these war measures. We must completely renounce our colonies, and not even German missionaries shall have the right to follow their calling therein. We must renounce the realization of all economic and social aims.

"Even in internal affairs we are to give up the right of self-determination. The international reparation commission receives dictatorial powers over the whole life of our people in economic and agricultural matters. Its authority extends far beyond that which the empire, the German federal council and the Reichstag combined ever possessed within the territory of the empire.

"This commission has unlimited control over the economic life of the state, of communities and of individuals. Further, the entire educational and military system depends on it. It can keep the whole German people in mental thrall. In order to increase the payments due by the thrall, the commission can hamper measures for the social protection of the German worker.

"In other spheres also Germany's sovereignty is abolished. Her chief waterways are subjected to international administration; she must cede to her territory such canals and such railways as her enemies wish; she must agree to treaties, the contents of which are unknown to her; to be controlled by her enemies with the new states on the east, even when they concern her own functions. The German people is excluded from the

Rhine Cities Proclaim A Republic

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS)

A situation which may affect the peace settlement with Germany has arisen through the proclamation of an independent republic of the Rhine province, stretching along the frontiers of Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg and extending from the lands along the Dutch border to the hills of the Sarre. This province contains vast fields of coal and iron, great industrial cities and the centers of some of the most important textile manufacturing in Germany. The new government, installed presumably at Friesdorf, is headed by Dr. Dordel.

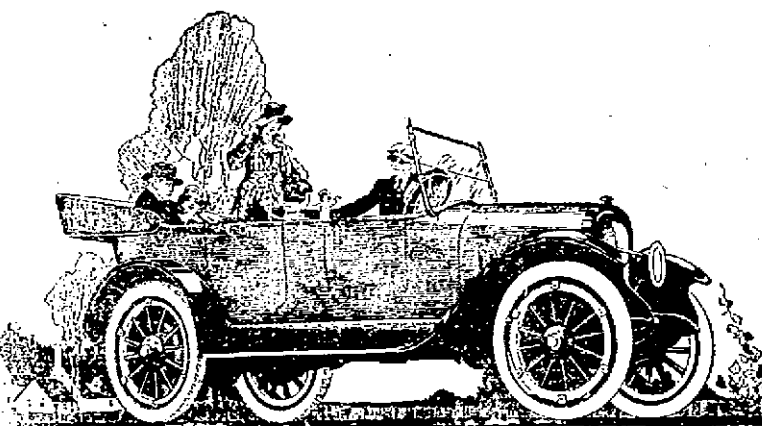

Announcement that such a declaration was to be made has been forecast for several weeks, reports from Belgium, Holland and Berlin reflecting the handiness of a movement of great importance. Last week a statement was issued at Berlin denouncing those who were behind the movement and declaring them to be traitors to the Fatherland. It was charged that the French were active in propaganda work in the province, it being alleged that General Mangin, French commander at Mayence, was the prime mover.

ADRIATIC PROBLEM UNSOLVED

ADRIATIC PROBLEM UNSOLVED

PARIS, June 2.—The terms of peace will be presented to the Austrians today with the problem of the Adriatic still unsolved. The council of four held a brief meeting before going to St. Germain this morning. Premier Orlando, of Italy, and Colonel E. M. House, of the United States, being present. During the meeting the Adriatic question was discussed.

The Austrians were escorted in by an Italian officer. Immediately upon their arrival at 12:22 o'clock, the session was formally opened by an announcement of the head usher.

DISPOSING OF EX-KAISER'S PROPERTY

BERLIN, May 31.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Disposition of the property of the former emperor and former crown prince is claiming the attention of the finance ministry of the new republic. A commission has been appointed to determine what may properly be considered private and what holdings may properly be looked upon as belong to the state.

An order creating the commission provides for a thorough search of real estate records for the purpose of determining the title and says the findings must be placed before the national assembly so that proper disposition may be made of the lands and palaces which the government will take over.

It has been suggested that the emperor's palace in Berlin shall become a museum for the history of art and science, in which will be gathered the art objects now in all the royal palaces.

If the Rhineland province becomes independent, a buffer state will be set up between Germany and France and Belgium. The Sarre region will be in the control of the new state and Germany will have lost all her possessions west of the Rhine. Bremen and East and West Prussia, and possibly other provinces in Germany are said to be contemplating a similar serious step which might mean the disintegration of Germany.

Recognition of the all-Russian government at Omsk, headed by Admiral Kolchak, is expected to be delayed until Colonel S. Moris, American ambassador to Japan, has reached Omsk and has reported to President Wilson. It appears that various Russian factions object to the terms said to have been proposed to Admiral Kolchak by the peace conference and advise that the head of the Omsk regime may ask for a modification of the conditions.

Ignace Jan Paderewski, Polish premier, who is in Paris, has asked that an American commission investigate reports of mistreatment of Jews in Poland.

15 DAYS TO REPLY

ST. GERMAIN, June 2.—Austria was today given 15 days to reply to the terms of peace presented by the allied nations.

M. Clemenceau, president of the peace conference, was the first prominent figure to arrive today at the meeting at which the terms of peace were presented.

Secretary of State Lansing and Henry White were the first American representatives to arrive. Premier Orlando, of Italy, and Premier Paderewski, of Poland, and Arthur J. Balfour, following.

WILSON DELAYED

At 12:10 o'clock, President Wilson had not arrived and the ceremony of presentation was delayed somewhat. The president, however, reached St. Germain at 12:11 o'clock. A puncture in the tire of his automobile had held him up on the way.

President Wilson's automobile mishap occurred at St. Cloud. While the punctured tire was being mended an army car passed. It was commandeered by the president's party and the president and Rear Admiral Grayson

HALL DENSELY PACKED

M. Clemenceau spoke only three minutes. The hall was densely packed, many of the Secretaries having been admitted to the chamber and the denseness of the throng detracted somewhat from the impressiveness of the ceremony.

Premier Clemenceau spoke in French. His remarks were translated into English, then into Italian and then into German.

Fred Dittus, special secretary of the peace conference, presented the terms to the Austrians at 12:37 o'clock.

Dr. Karl Renner, the Austrian chancellor and head of the delegation, then began an address in German.

Dr. Renner opened with a complaint at the delay in the presentation of the peace terms. The chancellor declared the Austrian republic was entirely free from the Hapsburg dynasty. It would never have declared war itself, he asserted.

The chancellor concluded his address at 12:50 o'clock.

The entire peace treaty was not presented to the Austrians today and the fifteen days stipulation with regard to their reply therefore, refers only to the portion of the terms handed them to today's session.

OPENING STOCKS

NEW YORK, June 2.—Execution of accumulated buying orders over the prolonged holiday caused a decided manifestation of speculative and financial enthusiasm at the opening of the stock market today. Shares in many instances rose from one to at least 5 points. Steelmakers led the advance with a 1-1/2, followed by United Steel and Southern Pacific, each with 3-1/2. Italia oils and other speculative favorites made substantial improvement. Marine preferred gained 2-1/2, which was soon relinquished while the common fell steadily from the outset.

Industrial Base Ball League To Open Season This Evening

N. & W. And Steel Plant Ready For First Clash, Selby Vs. Solvay Tuesday

GAMES THIS WEEK
N. & W. vs. Steel Plant—June 2.
Solvay vs. Selby—June 3.
Excelsior vs. Drew—June 4.
N. & W. vs. Solvay—June 5.
Excelsior vs. Steel Plant—June 6.
Selby vs. Drew—June 7.

Interest in the Industrial Baseball League, which opens tonight when the Steel Plant clashes with the N. & W. aggregation at Seventeenth and Chillicothe streets, is at fever heat and there is no question but a large crowd will witness the struggle, which will be called promptly at 6 o'clock and which will be a seven inning affair. The two teams, according to close students of the game, are evenly matched and a battle worth witnessing will be staged. Humor has it that "Pete" Moore and John Weisberg, both of whom helped mightily to bring the O. S. L. flag to Portsmouth on more than one occasion, will form the battery for the N. & W. team. If these two lads are in shape, rest assured the railroad boys will be well fortified on the mound and behind the bat. Moore declares his arm is just as good as ever and that his speed is still of the dazzling order, while his curves have a zip on them that completely baffles the batters. "Weisberg," who has been playing basketball, and who dangles around like a mosquito, is in fine trim and will be there with the wallop when needed. Schultz & Samson will most likely be in the jobs for the Whittaker-Glessner aggregation and they need no eulogies as to their ability as battermen.

The general public is invited to the games, which will be free to all, although the nominal sum of ten cents will be charged for seats in the grandstand. The stands have not been fully completed as yet, but there will be plenty of accommodations for those who desire to see the opening game.

On tomorrow evening the Selby and Solvay teams will clash, while on Wednesday evening the Excelsior boys will try conclusions with the Drew lads.

It is believed the league will be one grand success. The interest, as has been said, is intense, and before the first two weeks are over the rivalry will be as keen as a briar. President Dan W. Conroy stated Monday that the games would be conducted on a high plane and the umpire, "Buck" Yeager, will be backed up to the limit. The players in the league are high-minded gentlemen and there is no question but what every game will be decided strictly on its merits. Captain Yeager was the unanimous choice of all managers for the position of umpire and it is generally known that he never has a favorite while on the field as judge of play. The league is to be congratulated upon having the services of Mr. Yeager, who not only knows the game from start to finish, but who is fair and impartial and on the top of every play.

All in all, there is no reason to question the success of the league, and it will no doubt go down in history as the peer of the old Saturday Afternoon league, which led to so much interest and good-natured rivalry in these parts. Come out and see tonight's game. Be there promptly at 6 o'clock if you want to see every play.

City Tournament Starts At Play House Alleys On Tuesday Evening

With weather conditions insuring a range down fine and expect to overcome any efficiency by remarkable speed. The pins should fall easy, owing to the long dry spell, which has loosened them just right. The captains of the various teams are asked to have their players on the alleys at the appointed time of starting the games and to hand their line up and entrance money to William N. Gableman, manager of the Play House, previous to starting the games. The schedule for the week is as follows:

Tuesday—Auroras No. 1 and Steel Plant Specials.

Wednesday—N. & W. and John McFarland's Malleables.

Thursday—Auroras No. 2 and Red-Cr's League.

Friday—Irony Knobs and Team Five.

Saturday—Open Date, but two teams can be accommodated for that evening.

The singles and doubles will be rolled next week, and the schedule will be arranged as soon as the entries for the five men event are in. The entrance will be $1 per event and the players will have a nice sum to stake at it if all the five men who have entered decide to shoot in the all events.

WILLARD ARRIVES AT TOLEDO

TOLEDO, O., June 2.—Weary from his long, hot journey from California, Jess Willard, the world's heavyweight champion, arrived here late tonight, to finish training for his championship contest with Jack Dempsey to be decided in the Bayview Park arena July 4th.

The champion came from his home in Lawrence, Kansas, where he spent Saturday with his wife and their children. After greeting Tex Rickard, promoter of the contest, and other friends, Willard hurried to a hotel for a sleep.

SOUTHWORTH IS MURDERING "PILL"

Southworth's hitting against the Reds was terrific. This had its early one of the best all-around outfielders in the game today. Years ago Southworth was a coming star and his playing the past few years has certainly justified this claim.

Billy Doyle predicted that Southworth was a coming star and his playing the past few years has certainly justified this claim.

Willard Begins Training

TOLEDO, O., June 2.—Jess Willard, today although it is probable that he will not do any boxing until tomorrow, Jess O. Archer, business representative of the title-holder, had completed all arrangements for Willard's training in advance and the outdoor arena is ready for the champion. Willard will not live at the training camp, but will engage a private residence. Willard planned to start light work

Ironton Is Blanked

The Portsmouth Shamrocks, managed by Charles Mason, won from the Ironton Chestnuts at Ironton Sunday afternoon by the score of 4 to 0. Bagwell and Willis occupied the mound for the Chestnuts. Willis worked for the Shamrocks.

Lucasville Is Swamped

Manager Fred Eberfeld's Rosemount Stars proved too much for the Lucasville aggregation yesterday afternoon when they ran up a regular foot ball score and defeated the villagers by a score of 21 to 8.

The Stars brutally assaulted the Lucasville team, the visitors' huffer from the outset and throughout the contest singles, doubles, triples and even home runs rolled off their bats when coupled with frequent misplays enabled the home team to score almost at will.

Lee Anderson, H. Collis, Gowdy and Bradford led in the assault the former leading with a triple, home run and two singles. Jeffords, who was on the mound for the Stars pitched well and was master of the situation at all times, misplays allowing the visitors to score most of their runs.

The score: Rosemount 21, Lucasville 8. Hits—Stars 22; Lucasville 7. Struck out by Jeffords 7. Shultz, B. Batteries—Jeffords and Weber; Shultz and Gentry.

Stranger to Western World. The Asiatic zoological expedition sent into the South Chinese mountain province of Yunnan to investigate its range of animal life, succeeded in securing several fine specimens of the serow, which is a stranger to the western world. The serow is a mountain dweller, somewhat like the chamois. It is wary and fleet and takes a dizzy and seemingly impossible course among its native crags.

Let Ohio Lead Again!

Triumphant in the most remarkable campaign of 1918, Ohio led in the sale of War Savings Stamps. Its loyal people answered every other call as well, but in the Thrift Campaign it early took and always held the lead. Shall it fall behind now?

FOR COMMUNITY WELFARE
No other department of the civilian war work can leave such beneficial effects for the common good. A thrifty community is always a prosperous community. Thrifty people make a thrifty community. Thrift is even better for the individual than for the community.

TO PAY THE WAR DEBT
Thrift will pay the great war debt easily. It will at the same time put money in the hands of the people. And it can harm no one.

OHIO SHOULD LEAD
Ohio should lead in thrift as it led in war activity—for thrift is a necessity brought about by the war. The best and most popular form of thrift is expressed through the purchase of War Savings Stamps. They are a perfect investment for rich and poor alike.

Perfect because they are absolutely safe in security, stable in price and quickly converted into money without loss.
Perfect for the rich because they require no attention, give a good net return (4.27%), and are quickly available.
Perfect for the man of less wealth because they require no watching, can call for no additional assessments, and can be converted into money at full value. They make a safeguard for the future and a bulwark against disaster.

OHIO'S PATRIOTISM
Then they are patriotic. The treasury needs the money as much—even more—than it did in 1918. Ohio, with a splendid record of patriotism in all things, will not let the equally important after-the-war work lag. The money you have put in War Savings Stamps has assisted in bringing the boys home—and we will not let our work drop until every soldier has returned, every sick or wounded man is cared for, and the dependents of those who lie in France are assured against distress.

WILL YOU Recognizing the advantages, the need and the pride of Ohio, do less than you did before?

THEY ARE REAL SPORTS

ENGLAND is giving what we suppose, there is no impropriety in calling a royal welcome to the American aviators, first of all, as meet and proper, to cross the Atlantic in an airship.

A London paper had offered a cash prize of ten thousand dollars to the first aviator to accomplish this feat, but there is an impression that competition was limited solely to Englishmen. However, that is no great matter. The air service of the United States navy was making the trial and, of course, what it wanted was the glory, or at least credit of the achievement and money reward had no place in its thought and plans.

But to return to the reward. The Englishmen are said to be the gamiest sports in the world, displaying no excess of exultation in victory and no depths of chagrin in defeat. When the commander of the navy heard the American flyer had left Portugal and would, as the completion of the last leg of his voyage, land in English waters he ordered all preparations be made immediately for its accommodation and such a reception tendered it as would reflect honor on the British navy. The people gave hearty support thereto and from the moment the American was sighted until hours after he had arrived tremendous throngs enthusiastically joined in the ovation.

And it was a feat worthy of cheering, no matter by whom accomplished, no matter by what nation welcomed. Think of the marvel of it! Two men in a human contrivance setting out on a flight nothing of feather and wing of the air had ever dared. Casting away from land, high in the air they mounted and over the waters skimming away for a point twelve hundred miles away and marked only by chart and compass. With incredible speed they traveled while two continents waited breathless, accounting every lap of fifty miles by that mystery of mysteries, the whispering of the wireless. Eighty, ninety, a hundred miles an hour they sped, one continent receding further behind and another approaching nearer. Long minutes, short hours and then the simple message, though it told of a feat, but a year ago hinted as possible, "Azores safely reached, landed."

Remember not a great while over ten years ago, when Tom Johnson, then a candidate for governor came to town in an automobile, the Red Devil it was called when we all gathered around it in gaping awe and felt it was not illly named. Well, some fine June morning, just like this, not ten years hence, we all will gather again in the same amazement to meet a traveler, who the day before left the English Portsmouth just to take a little jaunt to see how the American Portsmouth looked. Then the children will speak up at dinner: "Say dad, what's the reason we can't have an airplane." At night father will talk it over with mother, who thinks it so dangerous, and the next morning he will go to figuring on how the garage can be converted into a hangar.

A DREAM TO COME TRUE

PLANS have been submitted under proper authority for the completion of the paving of Gallia pike from Ironton to the Lawrence county line, on the Scioto county border.

Soon bids will be received for the completion of the Scioto county division of Scioto Trail to the Pike county line.

These two items tell a fascinating story of progress. If memory fails us not it was just ten years ago when permanent county road building in Southern Ohio had its inception by the construction of a mile of paving from the Portsmouth corporation line north along the then Chillicothe pike, now Scioto Trail.

Progressive spirits, who were then talking of paved highways from one end of the county to the other were looked upon as visionaries. Why, people said, it will bankrupt the county. But the world moves and it is pleasant to reflect that Southern Ohio moves with it. The first mile cost nine thousand dollars, an equal improvement will now cost almost four times as much, but good road building goes right on, increasing in volume every year. When the two sections mentioned first are finished, with the exception of a gap of eight miles on the East of Scioto county, there will be a stretch of hard road from Ironton to Wakefield, thirty-six miles. Nor is that all, by any means, that the lapse of ten years has worked in making a dream come true. There are five miles up Mum's run and four each on Galena and Buena Vista pikes, laid or under way. It is no prophecy to say that in another decade Scioto county, outside the city of Portsmouth will have near a hundred miles of paved roads. Even there the progress does not stop as the townships are waking up too. One of them has surveys actually underway for the improvement of every mile of road in its boundaries and three others are moving enthusiastically to the same end.

SHOULD BE MADE COSTLY

THE present German government appears a sort of bluff, foreshadowing in rule, but no one ever ceased either the nation nor the individual parts of it of being practical jokers.

Yet, in the counter peace proposals of the Ebert cabinet we have a rather coarse attempt at humor. This is a proposal that the demand for reparation for her thorough and remorseful ravaging and pillaging in France, Germany be allowed an offset of a matter of better than three billion dollars for the blockade of her coast by the Allies. The claim can not be taken seriously. There is no better established law of nations than that of the blockade. If two are at war and one has the ships and the force to make an embargo against the other continuously effective she has a perfect right to do so. No other element enters into it except the power and resources to make it a reality. When Germany questions, not the effectiveness of the blockade, but admits it, she in that fact precludes herself from the plea of damages and sets herself in an attitude so grotesque as to make her position clownish.

All the terms of reparation are not yet set down entirely. Germany's preposterous answer to them generally is such as to both provoke and justify severe additions to them. She has been whipped, she is in the grasp and power of the Allies. Fining her for her flippancy in regard to the peace terms would have the same standing as a court increasing the penalty on the convict guilty of contempt.

THE WISHING PLANE

Prince Charles stepped into the passageway which had been hidden behind the painting and started to climb down the steps. Jack and Jane and their friends followed. It was pitch dark in the stairway, and not much lighter when Jack and Jane reached the bottom of the stairs and found themselves in the cellar of the house. Prince Charles led the way around behind the stairs and into another dark passageway.

All followed this for what seemed to Jack and Jane to be hours. The children finally heard Prince Charles who was ahead of them, unbaring a door, and presently he swung it open. Jack and Jane were amazed to find that the door opened out into a beach, just a few feet above the water's edge. At the end of the passageway had been built a small dock; tied to the dock was a boat. Now you will probably wonder what it was all about. So did Jack and Jane, but they didn't have to wonder long. When everything had reached the dock Prince Charles shut the door. The children noticed that it had been cleverly covered with vines and surrounded by bushes that it could not be seen from the outside. "I suppose you are wondering why we have this secret road away from the house," said Prince Charles. "Well, I will tell you."

"The men who remained loyal to Princess May and myself have never stopped trying to restore us to our kingdom. Men who rendered me faithful. I suppose you are wondering why we have this secret road away from the house," said Prince Charles. "Well, I will tell you."

a brave print by M. Parrish called "The Harvest," which I don't very much like in color.

The new girl which the agency sent is a tawdry wench and since barely and I shall be glad when Hilda returns, albeit the new one fashions some excellent pop overs. R. C. B. and he is taking up his abode in the country and likes it very much but I can raise not a bit of enthusiasm for country life although I was raised on a farm.

In the evening to see the Harlequin Club and I left all about me in laughter because I laughed so heartily and once I did almost fall from the stool, yet it was a course, slapstick performance and my wife fears my tastes are getting low. Home and road life, being unable to sleep well.

A shining white head rolled down on Bowling Green from the steeple of an ancient gray figure on the cornice of the Custom House. The head represents Belgium. The steeple represents the nations of the world which have dealings with the United States through the Custom House. The reason Belgium is so clean and white is that she is being now, having just stepped out of the scaffolding which covered her from the gaze of the cartoons during the process of "housecleaning." The statue used to represent to mankind last fall, for reasons which need not be recapitulated, they knocked off Germany's head and substituted the gentle smiling visage of Belgium.

There is a persistent rumor that George M. Cohan is being promoted for public office. He has been successful at everything he attempted and there is no reason he should not go in for politics. Of course Cohan has used press agents in Eddie Dean and Miss Ann Ayres but these stories are not emanating from the Cohan office. They come from down around City Hall where political talk is hatched.

The dog associate of General (Graham and Colonel) Howard, of New York, have been loaned enough to make a dog's head smell that does are different. Yet a pin head police rule in Gotham makes it compulsory to muzzle all dogs and not let them off a leash. It is quite interesting to hear what the returning soldier has to say for the dog. A new law for man's best friend was born over there.

Upon The Hill
Just out of the city is a hill.
It stands in its majesty there.
You can see from its lofty heights,
The city below so bright and fair.

Upon the hill above the city.
There's a fragrant breath of spring.
Where the violets bloom so modest,
And the birds so joyously sing.

There's a long and narrow trail.
A winding up the highest hill.
Away from the grime of the city,
There I can wander alone at will.

I wander up that winding trail.
And pick the modest violets there.
Up to the height of the hill I climb,
And breathe the fragrance in the air.

Below me is the busy city.
Throngs of people on the street,
And speeding cars go flashing by.
Up here the air is pure and sweet.

So often when I'm busy there,
Upon the hill I faintly would go,
Where I could rest my weary mind,
And leave the city far below.

Release Is Granted

Dr. Charles E. MacCorkle, popular superintendent of public schools at Ironton, has been granted a release from his duties there and will accept a three-year contract at Kenmore, a suburb of Akron. Dr. MacCorkle agreed to stay in Ironton if elected for a term of years, but the Board of Education, while highly pleased with his services, refused to accept this condition.

May Run Six Weeks
The Ironton Vacation Bible School will be held at the Second Presbyterian church this summer. If a sufficient number of pupils enroll to justify the work and the expense, the school would run for six weeks, beginning June 9. W. W. Gates, superintendent of the Sunday school, has the enrollment cards.

Holland's Windmills
It was at one time stated that there were in Holland at least 6,000 large windmills, of which the sails ranged from 60 to 100 feet long. At that time their yearly cost was reported to be nearly $10,000,000. The sails are used for many purposes—for sawing timber, beating hemp, printing, but their principal use has always been to pump water from the lowlands into the canals to protect the little country from being inundated.

The Roman "Penny"
The "denarius" translated "penny," in each of the four gospels was the principal silver coin of the Roman commonwealth. From the parable of the laborers in the vineyard it would seem that a denarius was the ordinary pay for a day's labor (Mark 10:2-13).

Eyeglass Screws
A handy way to tighten the screws in eyeglasses is to use a stub pen. The point fits into the slot, and because of the split in the pen, the screw can't be easily damaged.

PROTEST AGAINST ANTI-JEWISH PERSECUTIONS

CLEVELAND, O., June 2.—With multitudes of Jews and with every member of the Jewish community in Cleveland, approximately 5,000 Jews paraded through the downtown section of the city today to protest to the anti-Jewish persecution in Poland and Galicia. Many stores and factories were closed during the afternoon, the Jewish working people observing a half holiday of mourning. A mass meeting will be held here tonight at which resolutions will be adopted calling upon congress and President Wilson to bring international pressure to bear against a recurrence of similar persecutions.
